PARAGRAPH 01

1You don't have to scare your family with statistics about heart attacks. 2There are several positive ways to encourage your family to exercise more often. 3To begin with, get them to exercise more often by emphasizing how good they'll feel and how much better they'll look if they work out on a regular basis. 4A second method you can use is to set an example. 5If they see you walking to stores rather than driving, they might be encouraged to do likewise. 6 Finally, make exercise a family activity. 7 Suggest that the whole family go hiking or camping together, take up early morning jogging, or join the Y at the group rate

PARAGRAPH 02

1Serious depression, as opposed to the fleeting kind we all feel at times, has definite warning signs. 2One symptom of depression is a change in sleep patterns—either sleeplessness or sleeping too much. 3In addition, abnormal eating patterns may develop, either eating too much or loss of appetite. 4A third sign is trouble in thinking or concentrating—even to the point of finding it difficult to read a magazine or newspaper. 5And last of all, a general feeling of hopelessness may signal depression. 6People feel indifferent to their families and jobs and may begin to think that life is not worth living

PARAGRAPH 03

1Several factors can interfere with having a good memory. 2For one thing, there can be a lack of motivation. 3Without a real desire to learn or remember something, you probably won't. 4Also a factor is a lack of practice. 5To stay sharp, memory skills, like any other skill, must be used on a regular basis. 6Yet another factor that can hurt memory is self-doubt. 7If you're convinced you won't remember something, you probably won't. 8In addition, distraction can interfere with memory. 9If you're distracted by a television or by conversation nearby, try to find a quiet environment before trying to commit something to memory.

PARAGRAPH 03

1People lie for different reasons. 2One common reason is to avoid hurting someone's feelings. 3For example, a friend might ask, "Do you like my new haircut?" 4If you think it's ugly, you might still answer, "Yes." 5Another common reason for lying is to avoid a fight.6Say a friend angers you and then asks, "Are you upset with me?" 7You might answer,"No," to avoid an argument. 8People also lie so that they'll fit in, as when you listen to a boring person and politely say, "That's interesting." 9In addition, people lie to avoid spending more time with someone. 10For instance, you might lie, "I have to go now."
